WHEELING, JULY 27, 1892.

OFFICIAL CALL

For a Republican State Convention to Nominate a State Ticket.

At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee, held at the city of Parkersburg, February 23, 1892, it was ordered that a convention of the Republican party of West Virginia be held in the city of Huntington, in the county of Cabell, on Wednesday, August 3, A. D. 1892, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., to nominate candidates for the following named offices, to be voted for at the election to be held on Tuesday, November 8, 1892:

Governor, State Superintendent of Schools, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, two Judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals (one for the short term and one for the long term), and also two Presidential Electors at Large, and to transact such other business as the convention may see proper to do.

It is recommended that each county be entitled to one vote in said convention for each 100 votes, or fraction thereof in excess of fifty votes, cast for President Harrison in 1888.

The Executive Committee of each county will please take early steps to secure to its county proper representation in said convention.

The co-operation of all voters is invited who believe in the policy of reciprocity, of protection to American working men, American farmers, and American manufacturers; who favor a sound currency, the upbuilding and development of the State, the correction of abuses in the educational, humane and other institutions of the commonwealth, and economy and reform in the conduct of several departments of the government of the State.

W. M. Q. DAWSON, Chairman.
G. W. ATKINSON, Secretary.

A British View of the American Tariff.

"The promoters of the McKinley tariff mean it to push forward the policy of America for the Americans. One method of realizing it was to keep all work within their own dominions. The country was to be made self-sufficient; what could be produced at home was not to be bought abroad. That was the key-note of the McKinley scheme, and it is working out the idea of its designers with the precision and effectiveness of a machine."

REPUBLICAN victory in the coming election would retard for a long time the progress of the sound commercial doctrine that underlies the commercial greatness of Great Britain and alone maintain British ascendancy.—London Evening News.

IN 1890 it was a conflict of predictions; now our adversaries must face trade statistics and prices current.—President Harrison, June 21, 1892.

One Effect of Silver Agitation.

The Herald is authority for the statement that in New York city within the past two weeks thirty mortgages were filed in the register's office containing a gold clause; that is to say, the lenders of money are casting an anchor to windward.

If the silver men try it again after the election and get their free coinage bill through, investors in mortgages do not intend that their investments shall be cut into to the extent of thirty cents or more on the dollar.

It is a significant fact that Senator Stewart, author of the senate free coinage bill, is careful to insert a similar clause in mortgages on which he lends his good money worth a hundred cents on the dollar. Politics and business are very wide apart in the opinion of some people.

It was very fortunate that the Ohio River Railroad train that went overboard was not a passenger train. There would have been a serious chapter to write.

A HEATED controversy is much out of place in these days.

A Joint Tariff Talk.

Colonel McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, has challenged Governor McKinley to discuss the tariff question in Philadelphia. Governor McKinley replies that he is not fond of disputation and in his observation joint discussions are not profitable to either side.

advisable. Colonel McClure professes surprise to learn that Governor McKinley looks on the tariff as a partisan question.

It may be that Governor McKinley has been reading the always bright and buoyant Times. Col. McClure is a captivating talker and probably relies on this great gift to sustain him in a joint discussion of the tariff question. He would probably discuss the fine plate phase of the tariff in the vein of this unquestionably bright utterance in the Times of Monday:

It would be a big thing if in successfully locating the native tin plants in this state they could successfully cross it with the export. Think of the boom in omelets and custards.

Free traders would applaud and howl over this, but it would hardly be said to determine scientifically that we cannot make tin plate in the United States. There would of course be more of the same kind, but all of it would not prove the Democratic declaration that a protective tariff is forbidden by the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Wm. L. Wilson stands on a platform which means that the duty must be for revenue only and cannot be to protect anything. And the Democrats of his district give him a cordial endorsement. If congress were to give those Democrats just what they ask there would be some lively squirming in the Second district of West Virginia. Nova Scotia coal lies not very far from the mines of the Second district.

Inflammatory Publications.

The Register does not like to the extent of half a column the remark of the INTELLIGENCER that Newspapers that have disgraced their columns with inflammatory articles and demagogic cartoons in the hope of making political capital have contributed a full share to the attempt to assassinate Mr. Frick. They are accused before the fact. This thought will make them comfortable at this time.

The Register comes back in this way:

Now, we challenge the INTELLIGENCER to produce one article from a reputable newspaper in the United States that could be called "inflammatory" or that counseled or suggested violence, even by innuendo. We challenge our neighbor to produce one article bearing upon the hostile attitudes of the men and the Carnegie company that did not in the most emphatic manner denounce violence and urge strict obedience to the law.

The INTELLIGENCER did not charge that they were reputable newspapers that had been engaged in the fiendish work of trying to inflame one class against another. On the contrary their act brands them as altogether disreputable. The New York World has been a leader of this fashion and the Wheeling Register has imitated so far as its ability goes.

Under cover of urging strict obedience to the law there has been the bold accusation that the tariff law is robbery of the wage-earner for the benefit of the employer, and this has been shrewdly coupled with the emphasized innuendo that anything that could happen to Carnegie and Frick would serve them right.

The distinct tone of newspapers of the sort spoken of has been against the restoration and preservation of order. Counseling peace, they have in every line suggested, "Sick 'em, Towser!" This has been done, not because the newspapers spoken of are less fond of money than Frick or Carnegie—the owner of the World is rich and spends most of his time in Europe—but because of the misapprehension that wage-earners want that sort of thing and through it may be led to vote the Democratic ticket.

If they keep on catching anarchists supposed to be connected with the Frick assassination they will have quite a cage of jackals.

To-day the untutored Democracy will meet at Parkersburg to name a state ticket. The INTELLIGENCER hopes it may be a good one. There would be less honor in knocking out an inferior article.

A National Guardsman.

The criticisms on the punishment of Private Iams, at Homestead, seem to be made in forgetfulness of the character of his offense. He was guilty of treason. It is true that his punishment was great, perhaps unnecessarily severe, but not so great as his offense.

It appears that he had been insubordinate from the first, had deserted his post—for which he could have been shot—had used bad language to his superiors and altogether behaved himself in an unsoldierly manner.

The soldiers at Homestead are there on duty in the service of the state. They are not out on a picnic. To be a member of the National Guard is to be something more than a masquerader. It is serious business. The case of Iams will emphasize this idea.

If this sort of thing continues it will require two thermometers to hold the record.

REV. FATHER MALONE, of Brooklyn, is a man with a head on him. He says it is a question of tariff or no tariff, and he is for Harrison and a protective tariff.

Seasonable Hints.

Experience teaches that only the very strong and the very careful get well through a long continued spell of hot weather. When the thermometer is at the 100 point is a good time to take the world as easily as you can, to live on light diet, to take iced drinks sparingly, alcoholic stimulants none at all.

Very few persons need much meat in this weather. Meat is fuel. Heavy clothing is out of place, yet there are those who dress almost as heavily as when the thermometer is forty degrees lower. A quick bath helps amazingly. A sponge bath with a little ammonia in the water is very cooling.

If this weather continues any nice shady grove that Huntington may have handy will be gratefully accepted as a good substitute for a wigwam. The grove is of earlier origin than the wigwam.

FOURTH district Democrats in convention knocked out the silver plank of the Chicago platform and put in a square-toed free coinage plank. They made their platform fit their candidate, who voted in the house for free silver. The punishment fits the crime. But how are they going to support the two planks of the two platforms?

BETWEEN the waters and the lightning a good deal of havoc has been wrought in this vicinity. The lightning in particular cut queer capers.

A Wilted Backbone.

A little nicer sense of the fitness of things and a little less of the idea of "senatorial courtesy" would have led the senate committee to make a favorable report on the nomination of Mr. Shiras to be a justice of the supreme court.

The committee found nothing against the nominee because there is nothing against him. His appointment is one of the very best selections made by any President for the supreme bench.

In reporting the nomination without recommendation the committee showed that it lacked the courage of its convictions. Perhaps the high temperature had wilted the committee's backbone.

It was a happy saying of Bismarck's the other day that "United Germany was wrought out by French battalions." Presumably all other agencies combined would have failed as they had done before. The French emperor who lost his throne is the real father of United Germany.

Get Rid of Them Promptly.

A Philadelphia Anarchist said in a public speech that Frick and Carnegie and all like them should be in the penitentiary or the cemetery. Language of this kind should be considered sufficient cause to send the offender to the penitentiary for a long term.

If he is a foreigner he should be sent back to the country whence he came. That sort of talk is a breach of the peace and the forerunner of violence such as the country has already seen. The time to deal with the monster Anarchism is when he first shows his horrid head.

If President Harrison is responsible for everything he is responsible for the hot weather; which shows that he is not a cold man.

THE only reason for Mr. Cleveland's nomination, and the thing that forced his nomination in spite of all the efforts of politicians, was the fact that, in the minds of the Democratic masses, he represents the idea of free trade. The platform is an unmistakable declaration against all parleying with protection. It puts the Democratic party in the field as committed to the policy of sweeping away every shred of a protective duty.—Henry George, the Free Trader.

PERSONAL POINTS.

On account of his accident of birth there is no strength in the kaiser's left hand, in which he holds the reins when riding, and his carefully trained horses are guided chiefly by pressure of the knees. The emperor usually mounts his horse from a block, and when that is not at hand a chair is brought out for him to stand on.

Congressman Amos J. Cummings has always been something of a bibliophile. His resolution in the house to purchase the library of the late George Bancroft, historian and man of letters, is in keeping with his propensities. He thinks that the nation's exchequer can afford to pay $75,000 for Mr. Bancroft's immense collection of tomes.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts still takes a keen and active interest in philanthropic subjects despite her advancing years. The ladies' theatrical guild recently started in London is one of the enterprises which she has materially aided.

Jules Verne is a cripple and limps painfully when he walks. This mishap was occasioned by the shot of an insane nephew some years ago.

A report is in circulation that the Rev. George Jacob Schweinfurth thinks strongly of moving his "heaven" to Texas.

John J. Ingalls is said to be so superstitious that he feels nervous when he sees the moon over the wrong shoulder.

At present Mr. Cleveland weighs about 280 pounds and his girth is more ample than ever before.

Mr. Gladstone first spoke in the house of commons on May 17, 1833, fifty-nine years ago.

EVERYDAY PHILOSOPHY.

A man who hires another at $30 a month to do work which brings in only $50 a month is a philanthropist. But if he hires 20,000 men at the same rate he has an income of $20,000 a month and is a "busted monopolist."—New York Herald.

AN ECZEMA ON A BOY

Suffering Intense. Head Nearly Raw. Body Covered With Sores. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I bought a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box CUTICURA SALVE, and one case of CUTICURA SOAP, for my son, aged thirteen years, who has been afflicted with eczema for a long time, and I am pleased to say that I believe the remedies have cured him. His sufferings were intense, his head being nearly raw, his ears being gone except the gristle, and his body was covered with sores. His condition was frightful to behold. The sores have now all disappeared, his skin is healthy, eyes bright, cheerful in disposition and is working every day. My neighbors are witnesses to this remarkable cure, and the doubting ones are requested to call or write me, or any of my neighbors. WM. S. STEPHENSON, Winchester P. O., Union Co., N. C.

Stubborn Skin Disease.

I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES for about four months for the treatment of a very stubborn case of skin disease, something like eczema. I will state I tried a great many other advertised remedies and have been treated by local physicians, and all to no purpose. The CUTICURA REMEDIES did the work, and my body when I commenced was absolutely covered.
